LONDON N15

YOUR HOME IN NATURE

Nestled in a leafy corner of North London, North Gate Park
is a beautiful enclave in the city.
Home to a unique collection of houses and apartments, each with private outdoor space and built around a meticulously designed lush central garden.

YOUR NEW NEIGHBOURHOOD

NEIGHBOURHOOD

A concierge, proposed nursery and co-working space, provide maximum convenience with shops, cafés and everything you need within a short stroll. Close to Finsbury Park, Tottenham and Alexandra Palace, there is plenty to do in the area. Just a short walk to Seven Sisters Underground station, and Harringay rail station you're well-connected for work, study and entertainment.

ROOM TO ROAM

Wander the quiet paths, soak up the sun or pause to hear the birds; North Gate Park invites you to enjoy life at your own pace.

With a mix of restored traditional architecture and beautiful new homes, it's a delightful blend of contrasts. The buildings are centered around a lush garden, originally laid out by a Kew Gardens horticulturist dating back to the 1920s. Now, the garden will delight new generations – we've lovingly preserved mature trees and planted native plants here, creating a beautiful place to wander and relax.

STEAL AWAY TO A SECRET GARDEN

A mix of restored, traditional architecture and our new homes form the landscape of North Gate Park. Carefully refurbished period buildings integrate seamlessly with the new development, which has been sympathetically designed with nods to the Victorian architecture in the surrounding area.

An abundance of green space can be found in North Gate Park's magnificent Mulberry Gardens, providing a calm and tranquil atmosphere so close to the heart of London. Each house benefits from its own private garden and every apartment enjoys a balcony or terrace as well as access to a secure residents' courtyard garden. At North Gate Park, nature is at the forefront of design, each phase has been named after a native English tree that can be found in the grounds: Thorn Park, Marram House, Foxtail House and Juniper House.

Mulberry Gardens at the heart of North Gate Park has the magical air of a place you'll want to keep all to yourself. With green pathways, open lawns and beautiful mulberry trees, you could easily spend hours here. You're in the city, yet refreshingly protected from its bustle.

North Gate Park is in the carefully tended gardens that date back to the 1920s. Seven heritage buildings have been brought back to life and the gardens are bound by the historic wall, preserving as much of the existing materials as possible.

The features around you have been designed with nature in mind. Our cycle storage incorporates biodiverse habitats. Natural features like logs become a place to rest, play or exercise. Timber planters are also benches, so you can read your book while breathing in the smell of fresh rosemary. Sustainability is truly present in every detail.

BACK TO NATURE

INSIDE A SECRET GARDEN

The original garden at North Gate Park was laid out by a Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew horticulturist in 1920. We have expanded it to provide more room to wander and play, making your home a true London oasis. Today, Mulberry Gardens has tripled in size and there are additional green spaces at North Gate Park, including play areas, residents' communal gardens and leafy pathways – not to mention the private gardens to every house and balconies to every apartment.

The native English trees growing on the grounds have been lovingly preserved and celebrated in the garden design. Not just ecologically important, they carry great cultural significance and give North Gate Park its unmistakable character. You'll admire beautiful thorn trees, birches and sycamores as well as fragrant pear trees that blossom in spring.
